Name: The Drunk, aka. John Smith
Real Name: Hangard, Grandson of Tyr
Legal Status: Citizen of Asgard Prime
Age: Unknown
Group Affiliation: N/A
Base of Operations: Mobile
Quote: Oh no you didn't just shoot my bottle of rum! Now you really made me mad!
 During the cosmic battle with Ne-Cross, many lesser Gods of Mythology were thrown into battle with very little experience. Hangard was one of these Gods. While on a mission, this citizen of Asgard, was thrown through a dimensional portal and found himself floating in orbit around Earth. It only took a few minutes before gravity took hold and sent him crashing down unto our planet. On impact Hangard was knocked unconscious. He spent months in a coma at a hospital in Dallas, Texas until one day he woke up and flew out the window. It didn't take Hangard long to find a beverage of choice on Earth. Rum. And the more he drank it the more powerful he became.

Soon the drunken Demi-God was flying around the globe smashing evil and just about anything else he came into contact with. Hangard is one of the top Most Wanted on Storm Shadow's hit list.

*Demi-God Powers: Natural AC: 50, Life Support (Can survive in the vacuum of space or other non-breathing environment), Longevity, Ignore One Scale Shift

**Nemesis: When Hangard is sober his powers are reduced by 3 FULL ranks! His Main Stats remain the same. When Hangard is drunk from Rum his powers are normal and his MIGHT increases to Mighty (but his Hit Points and Stun remain the same). Due to limitations put on the grandchildren of the Gods of Mythology by the Ones Before, when Hangard comes into contact with other Demi-Gods from Asgard his powers are reduced by 5 FULL ranks. This begins to show when within 5 yards of another. This only works on true bloodline and not on genetically engineered Demi-Gods like Strykefire, grandson of Thor.
