V2 was the second in a line of androids designed by the military to fight the forces of evil on an even playing field. Shortly after V2's first mission, the android became self aware and went rogue. When the Mercenary Club showed up on Earth, V2 re-emerged and helped fight them off. V2 is currently at large giving crime something to be scared of.

V2 is the type of hero who does what they want when they want. Its synthetic skin allows V2 to mingle with humans without them fearing it. V2 is so humanlike that he even acts like one. V2 has been known to frequent gay bars and rumor has it he even has a boyfriend. When in combat, V2 likes to be cynical. He'll taunt and flaunt even as he hacks his way through a crowd of drugged out EVs.

The third in command of the Mercenary Club, Guard Master is obnoxious and rude. That said, he is also a dedicated soldier. He is in charge of the secret Mercenary Club base. Guard Master runs a tight ship. His security teams are shock trooper material. When it comes to fighting, he will jump at the chance to embarrass any hero that is stupid enough to cross his path. Guard Master wears a special battle armor that offers him protection from most environments.
